

PHILOSOPHY

College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences

Program Description

The Bachelor of Arts degree in Philosophy provides a broad orientation to the major branches of Philosophy (Metaphysics, Epistemology, Ethics, and Logic) and to the various ways Philosophy has progressed throughout human history (through courses in Ancient, Medieval, Modern, and Contemporary thought and World Philosophy). We offer special topics courses such as Feminist Philosophy, Philosophy of Religion, Bioethics, Aesthetics, Philosophy of Film, Philosophy of Literature, Philosophy of Science and Technology, and Phenomenology and Existentialism. The primary goal of our program, however, is not merely to promote the mastery of philosophical content, but to help cultivate the philosophical spirit by nourishing students' responsiveness to the wonder of being, their commitment to justice, and their overall capacity to explore philosophical issues with creativity and critical insight.

Career Opportunities

Because Philosophy is at the heart of the liberal arts experience, a B.A. in Philosophy allows students to synthesize insights from a wide variety of fields and to sharpen their critical and creative skills in the process. The study of Philosophy is excellent preparation for a number of careers including law, education, religious studies, government, art, library science, and business. Apart from its application to particular careers, Philosophy provides students with the opportunity to explore their own sense of personal identity and value, to broaden their views of and commitment to justice, and to deepen the moral and spiritual dimensions of their lives.

Bachelor of Arts in PHILOSOPHY
Course Sequence (2013-2015)

Following this sequence increases the likelihood of completing this degree in four years' time. Dropping courses, retaking classes, or registering for less than a full course load will delay graduation, so always consult your academic advisor before deviating from this suggested sequence. Students may enroll in a course only if they have met all prerequisites for that course. Check the UIW Bulletin for details.
