

SOCIOLOGY

Traditional Program (Academic Focus)

College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences

Program Overview

Sociology is the scientific study of society and social behavior and can prove invaluable for one's personal life and professional career. Sociology transcends common opinion and discovers the facts. It deals with what is and seeks to discover why it is. In order to solve problems, it is necessary to know the causes and the possible consequences of our action or inaction.

Career Opportunities

Students graduating with a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology can pursue work in:

- Criminal Justice: Probation, Parole, & Delinquency Prevention
- Social Services: Working with the poor, children, aged, & families
- Business: Sales, Personnel, Marketing, Administration, & Research
- Government: Working in City, County, or State offices
- Professional/Graduate School: Excellent preparation for law school
- Teaching: with Graduate Degree, M.A. or Ph.D.
