

Bachelor of Arts in History

College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in History at the College of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences at the University of the Incarnate Word provides students with an understanding of the world and the diverse forces shaping both the past and present.

The History undergraduate program seeks to develop students' appreciation of societies that differ from theirs, to discover how to place contemporary issues and problems within a broad historical context, and to help students develop a variety of practical research and communication skills that allow them to understand and analyze the past. Ultimately, UIW faculty provide students a framework for understanding the past and the knowledge and skills necessary for charting the future.

The program provides the students with a comprehensive understanding of the History of the United States of America. The Program also offers a comprehensive understanding of Global History with regional focus on South Asia, East Asia and South-east Asia, Middle East, Europe and Latin America. The program also offers specialized and thematic courses like Global Human Rights, Global Refugees, Immigration, War and Society, Harry Potter and History, Star Trek and History, Women's History and Gaming in History, to give the students an exposure into the complex issues and debates of the 21st century world, providing the historical context to understand the world in which we live.

QUICK FACTS

- The program uses innovative and creative pedagogy like reacting to the past, role playing and simulation, debates and guided discussions, and experiential learning to help the students develop soft and transferable skills like critical thinking, analysis, presentation and communication, reading and writing which will make them fit for a variety of careers.
- The program provides students with the opportunity to cohort. They build solid relationships with one another that serve them in the classes and into their careers. Moreover, it provides them an opportunity to educate their classmates and wider community about history.
- Students who participate in the UIW History program also engage in study abroad and service-learning projects that encourage the application of their knowledge beyond the classroom.
